NC Farm Bureau's LEAD Program

Mission Statement

NC Farm Bureau's LEAD (Leadership, Education and Activity Development) Program will nurture progressively thinking agricultural leaders to:

- Better articulate their views in a respectful and professional manner;
- Project a positive image for Farm Bureau and agriculture through knowledge, wisdom, and integrity to unselfishly serve our communities; and
- Inspire others by being humble in their approach, but bold in their actions.

Quincy Adams – Wake County

6471 Highway 42

Willow Spring, NC 27592

Mobile – (919) 753-8072

Email – quincy@adamsvineyard.com

Quincy Adams is owner and wine maker of Adams Vineyards in Willow Spring. He is the eighth generation to live and farm on his family's land where he currently grows grapes, blackberries, peaches, and pears used in the wine production and for pick-your-own. The farm produces 95% of the fruit used to produce the wine, juices, jams, and jellies. His wines have won over 100 medals and four "Best in Show" titles in North Carolina since he took over the winery / vineyard portion of the farm in 2012.

While farming full time, Quincy earned a Bachelor's Degree from North Carolina State University in Soil Water Systems and has a minor in Wetland Delineation and Assessment. He also has worked as an Agricultural / Environmental Agent for the North Carolina Cooperative Extension Service in Wake County and most recently worked as a Financial Services Officer with AgCarolina Farm Credit.

Quincy serves on the Board of Directors for Wake County Farm Bureau, Wake County Public School System's Agricultural Programs Career Advisory Team (CAT), and the North Carolina Wine and Grape Council.

Quincy has one daughter, Regan, who is in ninth grade and very active in volleyball. Quincy's hobbies include hunting, fishing, and watching his daughter play volleyball. He is also active with his former FFA Chapter at Fuquay-Varina High School.

Andrew's Mobile – (252) 944-6384

Melinda's Mobile – (252) 944-5178

Email – arnoldfarms@embarqmail.com

Andrew and Melinda own and operate Arnold Farms where they raise tobacco, corn, soybeans, and wheat. Andrew graduated from the Ag Institute of North Carolina State University in 1990 and returned home to farm with his family. Melinda grew up on a family farm that raised tobacco, livestock, and all sorts of produce. She worked as an orthodontic assistant until 1997.

Andrew has served in various organizations, including the Beaufort County Farm Bureau for 12 years. He is currently the secretary/treasurer. He has also been a member of the Old Ford Fire Department for 27 years and serves as the treasurer, the county extension advisory council, and chairman of the county FSA committee. Andrew served on the state level advisory board for extension and the NC Ag Foundation. Both Melinda and Andrew served on NC Farm Bureau's State Young Farmers and Ranchers Committee. Melinda has always been very active wherever their children attended school, church, or sports.

The Arnold's son, Jody, a graduate of North Carolina State University's Ag Institute, has returned home to farm with them. Jody enjoys all aspects of hunting and raising walker hounds. Their daughter, Amy, is currently attending NC State University majoring in horticulture. She enjoys anything water related, particularly scuba diving.

Sue Ellen Brock – Pitt County

1157 Jack Jones Road

Winterville, NC 28590

Mobile – (252) 531-3258

Email – brocksberries@gmail.com

Sue Ellen Brock owns and operates Brock Family Farms in Winterville, NC and is part owner of Growers Ginning Company in Ayden, NC; both located in Pitt County.

Today the farm produces strawberries and produce, as well as serving as an event / wedding venue. She graduated from East Carolina University with a degree in Middle Grades Education and a Masters in Library Science. She has been employed with Pitt County Schools for 30 years and will retire on February 28, 2017 to devote full time energy and resources to the farm. Sue Ellen grew up on her family's tobacco farm and has lived on the farm and been part of farming her entire life.

She serves on the Pitt County Farm Bureau board as the Second Vice President and is on the board of director's for the Winterville Chamber of Commerce.

Sue Ellen was married to David Brock for nearly 27 years and has two adult children, Allen and Tyndall. David was a cotton farmer and transitioned the farm to include berries and produce around 2008-2009. He was diagnosed with pancreatic cancer in May 2010 and died in December 2010. At that time their children were in college and high school. The Brock's made the decision together to continue the farming operations. They have worked the farm but ultimately decided to continue only with berries and produce while adding the event venue aspect.

Adam Hilton – Davidson County

343 Hilcox Lane

Thomasville, NC 27360

Mobile – (336) 399-8311

Email – adamshilton@live.com

Adam currently operates a family farming operation along with his father. The farm has a commercial cow calf operation, along with producing hay crops for the farm's cattle and for sale.

Adam graduated from North Carolina State University's Agricultural Institute with degrees in Agribusiness Management, General Agriculture, and Field Crops Technology. After graduation, Adam came back to farm full time raising flue cured tobacco, small grains, and beef cattle. In addition, Adam started working part time in the crop insurance industry as a Crop Loss Adjuster. In 2005, the farm discontinued tobacco and Adam became more involved in crop insurance. In 2007, Adam took a position as a Marketing Representative. In 2011, he took a position as a Regional Marketing Manager. In 2015, he made the shift and started his own Crop Insurance Agency – Hilton Ag, LLC. This has allowed him more time at home and more time to focus on and grow his farming operation.

In 2004, Adam was recognized as the Outstanding Conservation Farmer for Davidson County, Area 8, and the Mountain Region of NC. Adam has been involved with wildlife and agricultural organizations and currently serves as a board member of the Davidson County Farm Bureau and North Carolina Cattlemen's Association. Additionally, he is the current Vice President of the Davidson County Cattlemen's Association.

Adam enjoys the peace and solidarity of the outdoors and especially enjoys hunting, kayaking, and fishing.
